STEAMPUNK "SUPER" CULTURE: GREATER THAN THE SUM OF ITS SUBCULTURES & FANDOMS

Steampunk began as a literary movement often described as "Alternate Reality with a Victorian aesthetic." Certainly literature is a key ingredient, but Steampunk is showing signs of becoming a multicultural/multi-dimensional fandom. What's unique about it is that it has drawn from sub-cultures ranging from Goths, to fashionistas, to music-makers, to pin-up aficionados, to fine artists and beyond. This diversity has contributed to making Steampunk into something greater than the sum total of its parts. Panelists from an array of backgrounds come together to describe how and why Steampunk captured their imaginations.

Participants: Brian Kesinger (Creator of "The Tea Girls" & Disney artist), M. Incroyable (Musician & Founder of "Peculiar Pretzelmens"), Sean McCaffrey (Art Director & Photographer, Creator, Ladies Of Steampunk Magazine), Donna Ricci (Founder & Captain of Clockwork Couture, Steampunk Clothier), Shurie Southcott (Miliner & Accessory Designer, Recipient of 2012 Steampunk Chronicle Readers Choice Award for Best Hatmaker). Moderated by Veronique Chevalier.

CREATING COMICS FOR KIDS, YOUNG ADULTS AND PEOPLE WHO NEVER GREW UP

Children and young adults are two of the fastest growing markets in comics, and yet they're often two of the most misunderstood. Young readers are discerning, and the surest way to turn them off of something is to tell them it's for kids. So how do you go about writing and drawing something that's both age appropriate and enticing? And more to the point, how do you get it out into the hands of young readers? Join a colorful crew of comic book creators including Paul Morrissey (editor of the Eisner-winning Mouse Guard: Legends of the Guard), Tim Beedle (Fraggle Rock, Muppet Robin Hood), Heather Nuhfer (Strawberry Shortcake), Joe LeFavi (Fraggle Rock), Megan Hutchinson (Will-O-the-Wisp) and Neo Edmund (Jurassic Strike Force 5) as they discuss the intricacies of writing for all ages and how to strike that perfect balance of imagination, intelligence and fun!

KAPTARA

KAPTARA is a retelling of the Greek Myth of Theseus, prince of Athens, and his epic battle with the Minotaur, a flesh eating monster with the head of a bull and the body of a man. It is a unique blend of history, horror, and bronze age science fiction. The steam-powered technology in the film places the mystery of Atlantis on the ancient island of Thera (Kaptara in the film). The struggle between Athens against this last remnant of Minoan culture blends the historical conflict of Mycenaean Greece with the fantastical Ages of Man: The Golden Age, when wondrous machines abounded; and The Brazen Age, when the technologies were used to subjugate neighboring peoples.

With a vivid screenplay and a talented cast of voice actors, KAPTARA uses motion capture technology and CG animation to bring this spectacular story to life. KAPTARA will inspire the fear, heroism, and passion that modern society has all but forgotten. More than a simple story; it is a profound legend based on ancient myth. Thus, each character represents an aspect of our psyche, its settings recall our rise to civilization, and its themes explore the very things that define us as human. Starring: Tony Todd, James Duvall, Noah Hathaway, Andy MacKenzie, Cortney Palm and Mark Hamill.

Participants: AJ Pinkerton, Peter Srinivasan, Casey Dwyer, Scott Leverett, Sparrow Rayne
